A MURDER THAT PUZZLES

Physician Under Surveillance After Wife's Death

SHE WAS CHLOROFORMED

Dr. Cleminson Says That He, Too, Was Drugged and He Says That He and His Wife Were the Victims of Burglars.

Chicago, June 1.—Dr. Haldane Cleminson, the young physician whose wife was found dead from chloroform poisoning Sunday in her home at 4188 Wayne avenue, is still in the Alexian Brothers' hospital under police surveillance. He still insists that his wife was the victim of burglars who drugged both her and himself before ransacking the house. The detectives say that many of the things enumerated as being stolen were found in a pair of discarded trousers in a closet by the police.

Lieut. Cullinan said yesterday that Dr. Cleminson had made several contradictory statements, among them being two distinct stories of how the burglars effected an entrance. One, according to the lieutenant, was that they pried open the dining room window, and the other was that he found both front and rear doors of the flat wide open. Later, Dr. Cleminson told others that he didn't know how the supposed burglars gained an entrance.

Dr. Cleminson appeared dazed, but showed no fear and little emotion when he was told that the police suspected him in connection with the death of his wife, and he merely remarked: "Well, that's unfortunate, but the thing will have to solve itself." Coroner's Physician Reinhardt, however, an authority on the organs of the body.

The pair have two children, Haldane Cleminson, 5 years old, and John Morgan Cleminson, 3 years old. The stork was expected to visit them again in August, it is said.

Dr. Cleminson says he was aroused out of his sleep by nausea about 5 o'clock in the morning, and reached over to awaken his wife, when he discovered she was dead. He immediately telephoned to Dr. Paul Hildhorst, who expressed the opinion that the woman had been dead several hours.

George Hildebrecht, who resides at 4192 Wayne avenue, told the police that he and his wife played at cards at a window not more than six feet distant from the Cleminson bedroom until Saturday midnight, and he was sure no burglars had molested the Cleminsons up to that hour. Mr. Hildebrecht was one of the first men on the scene and assisted the police in seeking possible burglar tracks.

N. Fomeroy, residing at 4192 Wayne avenue, told the police he saw Mrs. Cleminson lock the rear door of the house about 10 o'clock on Saturday night. On the strength of these two statements and the opinions of the physicians named, Capt. Kane has concluded that Mrs. Cleminson met death within an hour or two after retiring.

Cleminson admitted that his wife locked the screen door of the kitchen about 10 o'clock, and said that he was taking a bath when she retired. He showed the police a piece of gauze commonly used by physicians and said that was what he found under his wife's nose. He said the burglars found this cloth in ransacking his medicine cabinet. A half dozen burned matches were strewn about the floor and they were of the same manufacture as were contained in a case on the dining room table. Several drawers had been pulled out of their

ZEPPELIN HITS TREE

After Airship Made a Wonderful Flight

SAILED OVER 600 MILES

He Was Making His Return to Lake Constance When the Mishap Occurred—Machine's Bow Stove In.

Stuttgart, June 1.—After making the most wonderful flight ever taken in an airship, Count Zeppelin came to grief yesterday morning when his new airship Zeppelin II, collided with a tree at Goepingen in Wurttemberg. The bow of the machine was stove in. Details of the accident have not yet been received here.

It is estimated that up to the time of the accident the airship had gone a distance of over 600 miles, having been in the air continuously.

The Zeppelin II was on the return trip to Lake Constance, which she left at 9.30 o'clock on Saturday night. She had gone as far as Bitterfeld, about seventy miles from Berlin.

Then the return home was begun at 7.15 o'clock Sunday night. Count Zeppelin passed over Serweinfurt at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning and was sighted from Muerzburg yesterday at 4.45 o'clock. He passed over Heilbronn at 8.10 o'clock and over this city at 9.15, descending in Unterterkeheim, a suburb of Stuttgart, upon the meadows beside the river.

He immediately rose again and proceeded up the valley of the Neckar, passing over Esslingen at 9.45 o'clock, Plochingen at 10 o'clock and Kirchheim at 10.15 o'clock.

The collision with the tree occurred at Goepingen and the flight was at an end.

London, June 1.—Count Zeppelin had covered considerably over 600 miles when the accident occurred.

Count Zeppelin started from Friedrichshafen at 9.30 o'clock on Saturday night, and after spending the night sailing at steady speed through the air, arrived over Nuremberg at 8.30 on Sunday morning. When first sighted the airship was at a great altitude, but in response to the cheers of the great crowd which had gathered in the town, Count Zeppelin came down and executed a series of manoeuvres over the red-tiled roofs.

He then resumed his course to the northeast, and a message dropped from the airship confirmed the expectation that he was bound for Berlin. Special editions of the newspapers were rushed out in that city, and an indignant throng began to gather on foot, in automobiles and carriages about the Tempelhof field, the only available airship landing. The Kaiser, who had been privately informed by Count Zeppelin of his intention to visit Berlin, came out to the field with the Crown Prince and other members of the imperial family. Troops cordoned off an open space, and a squad from the military balloons, de-atched made ready to receive the visiting airship.

The excitement grew as it was learned that the airship had passed over Leipzig at 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The Kaiser and his party remained on the scene and supper was prepared in the infantry barracks for the aeronauts. At 8.30 o'clock the news arrived that Count Zeppelin had dropped a note at Bitterfeld announcing that he would not land at Berlin and had turned back.

The great crowd was deeply disappointed and many waited until 10.15 o'clock at night, when orderlies appeared in the cleared space and announced that the airship would not come.

It was not known at the time why Count Zeppelin had turned. It was thought, however, that there must have been trouble of some kind as there was no doubt that the Count intended to land at Berlin, he would not have caused the Kaiser and troops to be summoned. There were rumors that the winds had been unfavorable, and another report had it that the supply of benzine had been exhausted. There were also rumors of trouble with the motor. According to the latest reports, however, the airship was still sailing in the direction of Lake Constance at midnight last night.

The crew on yesterday's voyage consisted of two engineers and seven men, besides Count Zeppelin, who commanded.

The greatest enthusiasm was manifested in the towns along the route covered by the airship. Great throngs turned out to cheer the voyagers in Nuremberg, Erlangen, Bayreuth, Munich and Leipzig. A message was thrown down at Trenchlilingen, a small city in Central Bavaria. It was addressed to the manager of the Zeppelin company and read: "Beautiful morning; all well; strong contrary wind; rain during the night. Will arrive at Nuremberg at 8.30."

At Nuremberg a card was dropped saying that the airship was running.

t of benzine and water and that the voyagers would descend to take up water at Lake Dutzenteich. This was not, however.

The message dropped at Bitterfeld, announcing that the airship was returning, was as follows: "Have decided to return. All in good luck."

is the fifth he has built. The fourth also broke all records, and shortly after a very successful flight was destroyed. The accident was believed to have been due to an explosion of one of the balloons into which the great envelope is separated. A spark from the motor it was thought ignited the gas.

All Germany was enthusiastic over the success of the airship, and subscriptions poured in for the construction of another dirigible, while messages of sympathy reached Count Zeppelin from all over the world. The airship which was destroyed had made a record of 261 miles in the air without landing. It was 443 feet long and 45 feet in diameter.

Recently there has been much excitement in England over reports of a mysterious airship flying at night over the eastern countries. There have also been reports from Wales, and even Belfast had an airship scare. Military experts in Great Britain have always taken with a grain of salt Prince Henry's declaration that while the dirigible was a wonderful machine it could never be of very great importance in warfare. Certainly Germany has spent more time and money and has made greater progress than any other nation in the use of dirigibles of all types. No one knows exactly how many are completed or in the course of manufacture in the country. There is a large and well trained balloon detachment of the army and experiments have been in progress with several distinct types of dirigibles. Recently it was reported that the Wright brothers had completed arrangements with the German government for the use of their aeroplane.

TORNADO KILLS 30 AND WRECKS TEXAS VILLAGE

Scores Seriously Injured, 50 Houses Demolished and Children Blown Away in Terrific Night Storm.

Brownwood, Tex., June 1.—A tornado wrecked Zephyr, a village in Brown county, early Sunday, killing more than 30 persons, seriously wounding 50 and injuring a score or more. Extreme darkness made the catastrophe awful.

The storm formed half of a mile southwest of Zephyr and swept upon the village, cutting a wide swath directly through the residence and business quarters.

Nearly 50 houses were demolished. Lightning struck a lumber yard and started a fire which destroyed an entire business block. No effort was made to fight the fire for the care of the dead and wounded demanded all attention. A section hand pumped a hand car to Brownwood and spread the alarm. In two hours the Santa Fe railroad was speeding a special train to Zephyr with surgeons and 20 Brownwood citizens.

Hundreds of persons in the country around Zephyr saved themselves by taking refuge in storm cellars.

The big stone school building and two churches at Zephyr were hazed.

Portland, Ark., June 1.—Citizens on Sunday hanged Joseph Blakely, a negro brother of "Sam" Blakely, who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Cain on Saturday.

Unable to catch the alleged murderer of Cain, the mob lynched the brother after he declared that he intended to "get" "Bud" Harper, who had killed the Blakely brothers' dog.

Trouble over the dog resulted in Cain's death, and the lynching followed.
